CROTONE
CRUISE PORT

The port of Crotone was born at the beginning of the eighth century BC, when the city was founded by Greek settlers as new polis of Magna Graecia and soon started extensive trade with the motherland, becoming a strategic point in the Mediterranean routes.
Its great success was also due to Pythagoras, the famous Greek philosopher who decided to move to Crotone to create his own school. Enclosed between the clear waters of the Ionian Sea and the green woods of its parks, the city of Crotone is located in one of Italy's most fascinating regions, that of the Calabria region.

Thanks to a mild climate, a rich hospitality system and a modern and efficient infrastructural network, the Ionian Calabria finally shows its beauties also to the cruise public, a new emerging star in the panorama of the ports of the Ionian Sea.

We've joined The Sunflower

As of August 2026, Crotone Cruise Port has joined the worldwide Sunflower Initiative: individuals wearing lanyards or pins with the Sunflower symbol denote having a hidden disability, and may require extra care and time in their journey through our port. We appreciate that no two individuals are the same, and some of us require a helping hand, a moment of extra time. Staff at all levels across all 35 Global Ports Holding ports are trained to recognize the Sunflower, and offer assistance to individuals, without the pressure of describing their disability.

5 REASONS TO VISIT CROTONE

RICH HISTORY AND CULTURE

Crotone, founded in the 8th century BC by Greek settlers from Achaea, was one of the most important cities of Magna Graecia. Renowned for its rich intellectual and philosophical legacy, it was home to the famous mathematician and philosopher Pythagoras.

FOREST AND NATURAL PARK

The Capo Rizzuto Marine Protected Area is one of the largest in Italy, featuring crystal-clear waters, hidden coves, and rich marine biodiversity—perfect for snorkeling and diving. Inland, the Sila National Park invites visitors to explore ancient forests, mountain lakes, and scenic trails.

CALABRIAN FOOD&WINE

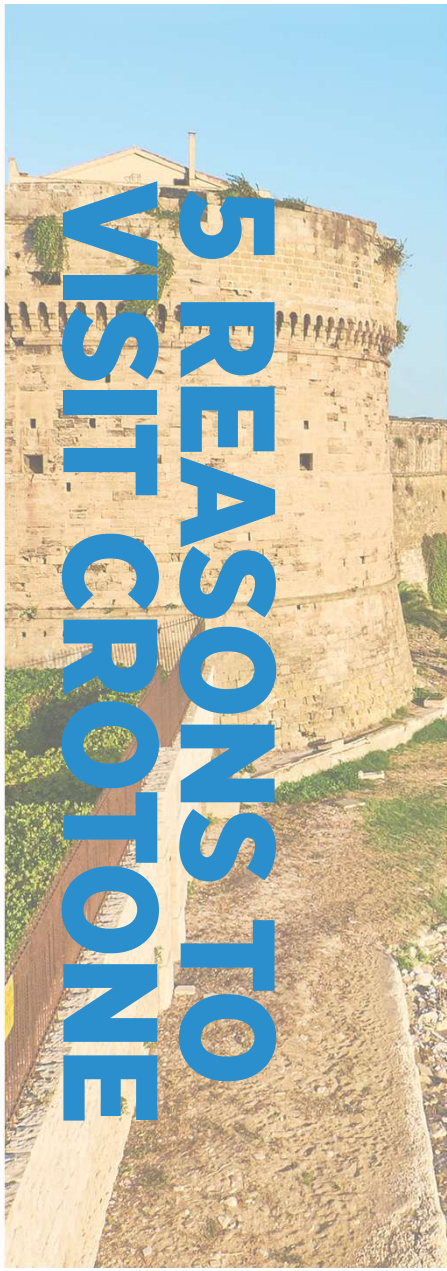

Local cuisine is complemented by a variety of traditional Calabrian beverages. From bold Cirò wines made with ancient grapes, to herbal liqueurs crafted with citrus and wild herbs, and even artisanal fruit-based spirits, Crotone offers a rich tasting experience that reflects the land's character and history.

DISCOVER TRADITIONS

Crotone is a land where ancient traditions are still proudly celebrated. Religious festivals, like the Feast of Madonna di Capo Colonna, bring the entire community together in colorful processions, music, and rituals rooted in centuries-old devotion. Traditional crafts such as weaving, pottery, and wood carving are still practiced in the area.

STUNNING BEACHES

From the golden sands of Le Castella, with its iconic seaside castle, to the peaceful shores of Steccato di Cutro and Punta Alice, the area offers a perfect mix of relaxation and natural beauty. The clear turquoise waters of the Ionian Sea are ideal for swimming, sunbathing, and water sports.

CARLO V CASTLE

Standing proudly in the heart of Crotone, the Castle of Carlo V is one of the city's most iconic landmarks and a powerful symbol of its historical legacy. Originally constructed during the Byzantine era, the fortress underwent significant expansion in the 16th century under the reign of Emperor Charles V, who fortified it to defend the region against Saracen and Ottoman invasions. The result is an impressive military structure with thick stone walls, angular bastions, and a commanding position overlooking both the city and the Ionian Sea. Inside, the castle frequently hosts exhibitions, historical reenactments, and art events, offering tourists a rich and immersive experience.

Did you know?

The Castle of Carlo V hides many fascinating secrets. Legend says that beneath the fortress lies a network of underground tunnels once used to connect the castle to the port and other parts of the city, allowing for secret movements during times of siege. The castle also served as a military prison, and some visitors claim they can still feel a mysterious atmosphere in its oldest chambers.

CAPO COLONNA

Capo Colonna is a remarkable archaeological and natural site near Crotone, rich in history and breathtaking landscapes. It is home to the remains of an ancient Doric temple dedicated to the goddess Hera Lacinia, dating back to the 5th century BC. This temple was once an important religious center in Magna Graecia and played a significant role in the spiritual life of the area. The site overlooks the Ionian Sea, offering spectacular panoramic views of the coastline and crystal-clear waters. Surrounded by protected natural areas, Capo Colonna is a unique destination where visitors can explore ancient ruins, enjoy peaceful walks along the coast, and connect with the region's rich cultural and natural heritage.

Did you know?

Capo Colonna takes its name from the single remaining column of the ancient temple of Hera Lacinia, which stands proudly as a symbol of the site's glorious past. According to legend, the temple was visited by the famous Spartan king, Anaxandridas, and it was believed to hold great protective powers for sailors navigating the Ionian Sea.

A NATURAL TREASURE BY THE SEA

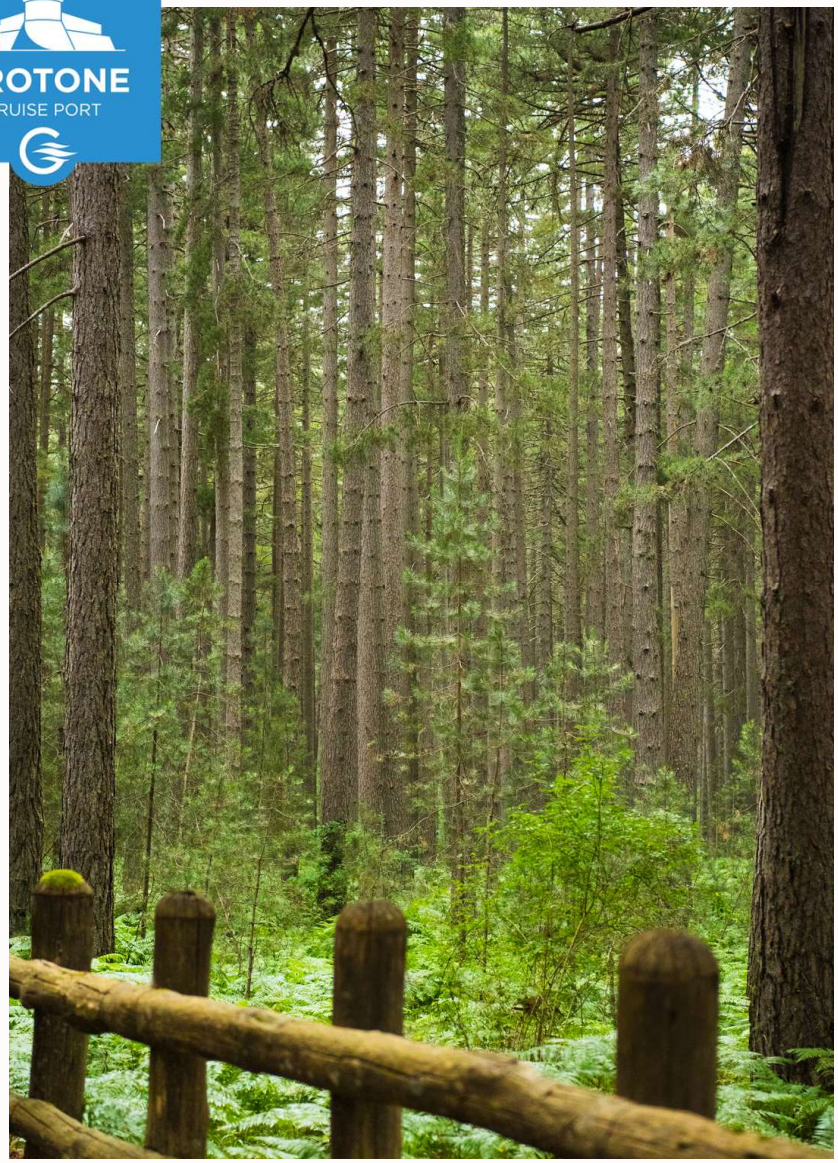

Isola di Capo Rizzuto is one of the most remarkable natural areas along the Ionian coast of Calabria, known for its crystal-clear waters, rugged coastline, and rich biodiversity. At the heart of the Marine Protected Area—the largest in Italy—this territory hosts a wide variety of marine life, including dolphins, groupers, and colorful coral formations. Its coastline alternates between golden sandy beaches and dramatic red cliffs shaped by wind and time. Inland, the Mediterranean maquis dominates the landscape, with fragrant shrubs, centuries-old olive trees, and wild orchids. Isola di Capo Rizzuto offers a unique encounter with untouched nature, where land and sea blend in perfect harmony.

Did you know?

Isola di Capo Rizzuto is home to Posidonia oceanica, an underwater seagrass endemic to the Mediterranean Sea. Often mistaken for seaweed, this vital plant forms dense meadows that act as nurseries for marine life, help combat coastal erosion, and produce more oxygen than a tropical rainforest!

THE GIANTS OF SILA

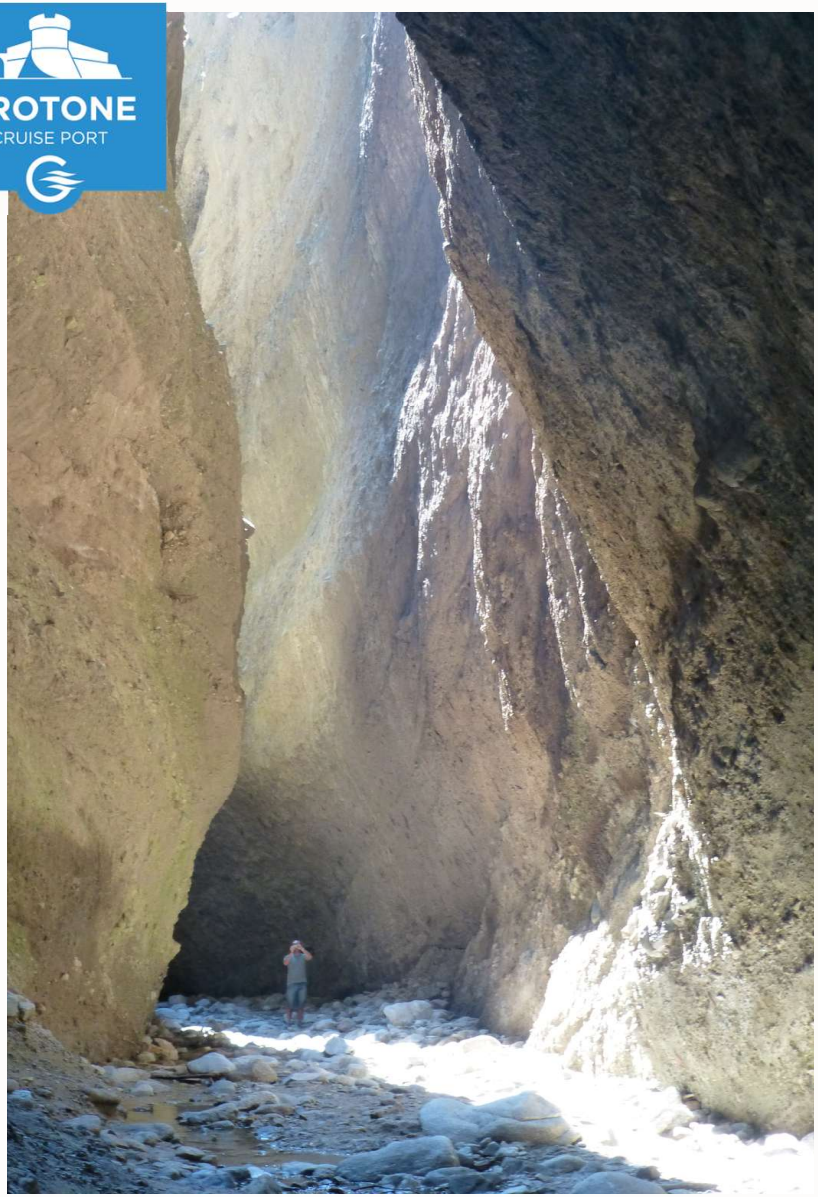

Hidden in the lush, green embrace of the Sila National Park lies one of Italy's most extraordinary natural treasures: the Giganti della Sila, or "Giants of Sila." This ancient forest is home to over 60 towering Calabrian pines and sycamores, some of which are more than 350 years old and reach heights exceeding 40 meters. Walking through this majestic woodland is like stepping into a different era—one where nature reigns undisturbed and silence speaks through the rustling of leaves and the creaking of colossal trunks. Once part of a Baron's private estate in the 19th century, these trees were spared from deforestation and now stand as living witnesses to the passage of time.

Did you know?

These towering trees have witnessed centuries of history, surviving wars, storms, and the passing of generations. Today, the site is protected and managed by the Italian Environmental Fund (FAI), ensuring the conservation of its unique biodiversity and cultural significance.
